Customer Reviews

Shaykh Abdul Qadir Jilani (God have mercy on his soul) is known as Ghauth ul-Aazam lovingly and as an honorary title denoting his high status among all other saints in Islam. His life is exemplary in so many respects for children for the much needed values of the modern age, including peace, humility, self-discipline, honor, respect, and many other such values that make us true human beings. I congratulate IECRC for the work they are doing.

The boy who always spoke the Truth is a great introduction to stories of the friends of Allah for young children. I have been trying to find ways to engage my niece and nephew with Islamic stories, and this was just the book. Really vivid artwork and creative pictures that kept the kids engaged. My nephew was very excited to read this book and he keeps asking for more!

I was looking to teach my kid about other cultures and stumbled upon this book. It was easy to read and came with illustrations to help the story. Hopefully the author can make more books like this in the future.

Love the book for its message of truth to the readers. I think it will be a good book for little children.
